REV. JOSEPH CANNING SUCCEEDS FR. WIESEL AS LOYOLA PRESIDENT

FROM XAVIER HIGH SCHOOL

Father Jacobs Takes Father Cerrute's Place; Other Changes Announced

Numerous changes have been made in the College Faculty since graduation last June. Father Joseph A. Canning, formerly of St. Francis Xavier High School, New York City, was named President to succeed Father Henri J. Wiesel who is now temporarily attached to St. Aloysius' Church, Washington. The latter was President of Loyola for six years, previous to that having served as Vice-Rector for a year and a half and Dean for a half year at Evergreen.

Many Missions

Father Canning, a native of New York, entered the Order in 1898 and was ordained by the late Cardinal Gibbons in 1915. He has served in various capacities at St. George's College, Jamaica; Gonzaga High School, Washington; St. Peter's High School, Jersey City, and St. Isaac Jogues Novitiate, Wernersville, Pa. The new President comes to Loyola from Xavier High School where he served as Administrator.

Prefect of Discipline

Father John M. Jacobs, who was Prefect of Discipline and Supervisor of Athletics at Brooklyn Prep, has succeeded Father Edmund P. Cerrute as Dean of Discipline and Faculty Supervisor of Athletics. Father Cerrute is now at Georgetown University. Father Jacobs is now busy organizing the new intramural sports program.

Cochrane And Botta Chosen By Seniors In Annual Class Ballot

Phelan, Roesser And Lanahan
Named To Represent Class
On Intramural Staff

The Senior Class elected Jack Cochrane president by a large majority at the annual elections held on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week. Robert Botta was named vice-president, Roger Lewis, secretary, Donald Lee, treasurer, and Larry Slowik, sergeant-at-arms.

Other candidates for the presidential chair were Joseph May, Ray Cunningham and Robert Botta. May receiving the second highest vote and the others following in the order named. Mr. Cochrane was vice-president of last year's Junior Class and was a member of various dance committees during his years at Loyola. He automatically becomes president of the Student Council. This is Mr. Lee's second term as treasurer, having controlled the exchequer of the Junior Class last year. Mr. Cunningham was president for three years.

One member was also chosen from each of the three divisions to represent the class on the intra-mural committee. Patrick Phelan, Henry Roesser and John Lanahan were chosen to represent the A.B., B.S. and Ph.B. groups respectively.

MANY FROM OUT OF TOWN

Stepping right out of the shirt ad of your favorite magazine, sixty-two of the most handsome freshmen (on a par with the same class at Princeton) passed through the portals of Loyola as Ole Man Tempo ushered in the fall semester at Evergreen.

The majority of these lads are local boys who are going to make good and set Baltimore, if not the whole country back on a sound financial basis. It should not be thought, however, that Loyola is only mentioned in connection with Charles Street. A good education knows no distance. England's Oxford has borne this out. America's Harvard is bearing it out. And now Baltimore's Loyola must bear it out.

MASS AND AWARD OF HONORS MARK START OF SCHOOL YEAR

RECTOR GREETES STUDENTS

On Monday morning, Sept. 24, the Very Rev. Joseph A. Canning, S.J., new President of Loyola celebrated the Mass of the Holy Ghost in St. Francis Xavier Chapel to officially open, in traditional fashion, the eighty third scholastic year at Loyola. The Mass was attended by the entire student body.

Classes for the first semester had previously been assembled on Tuesday, September 18th, with the seniors returning two days later, September 20th. There were sixty-two first year men on hand which brings the total enrollment up to 214, slightly less than last year.

Shortly following the Mass of the Holy Ghost, an assembly and presentation of

Loyola Men In Pageant

Loyola was well represented in the cast of the Tercentenary Pageant, "The Soul of Maryland" held at the Stadium on October 8 and 9.

Mr. Vincent P. McCorry, S.J. took the part of Father Brock, while Joseph S. May, of Senior impersonated the frontiersman, Captain Fleet, who acted as interpreter for the Maryland Indians.

Bernard Rice, of Junior, was a young member of the Assembly and Joseph Mack and Thomas Bracken, both of Sophomore, played the roles of student inquisitors of the Sage.

Father Daniel Lord To Conduct Retreat Beginning October 23

Is Editor Of "Queen's Work"
And Author Of Campaign
For Cleaner Movies

The Rev. Daniel A. Lord, S.J., editor of the "Queen's Work" and organizer of the drive against indecent movies, will conduct the annual Students' Retreat this year. The retreat, will begin on Tuesday, October 21 and come to a conclusion the following Friday morning with Mass and general Communion, followed by a breakfast in the gymnasium.

Father Lord, by reason of his efforts as editor of the "Queen's Work" in behalf of the Legion Decency, is one of the best known clerics in the country today. His wealth of experience and undoubted excellence in work of this kind will make the coming retreat one of the most interesting and beneficial that has ever been given at Loyola.

Of particular interest to the Freshmen is the fact that the "Frosh Rules" will be suspended during the days of the retreat. "Pup" caps, green ties, rule books and the "inquisition" will be shelved in order that a spirit of serious contemplation and self-examination may be maintained.

LOYOLA SENIORS HOLD VARIOUS JOBS DURING SUMMER VACATION

MANY DO MANUAL WORK

What your fellow students do during the college year is pretty much of an open book. We come to know their likes and dislikes and all the little intricacies of their fall, winter and spring habits. But what they do in the summer and how they do it is as obscure as the reasons why most of them came to college. It is for your enlightenment, then that these findings concerning the summer activities of the seniors are published, and also that you may have an idea of what they may be doing next year when the graduate and join the unemployed.

Day Laborer

Dick Riley, whose home is in New York, stayed around town and did a real man's work on a railroad tunnel construction job so that he might be in condition for the rigors of a hard scholastic year. Wright, Cummings and Molz received a weekly pay-check from the Crown Cork and Seal Company, while Cianos had a

INDOOR LEAGUE OPENS INTRAMURAL PROGRAM AS TEAMS TAKE FIELD

NEW RULES IN USE

Football League To Open Soon With Basketball Filling Winter Program

The plans for intramural sports as outlined last year are beginning to take definite shape. Inaugurating this year's program is the inter-class indoor baseball league. This league will be comprised of eight teams, two from each of the four classes. From the A.B., sections will come four of the clubs, leaving it to the combined efforts of the B.S. and Ph.B. sections of the four years to place the remaining clubs upon the field.

At the time of the writing of this article the senior class has placed a representative team from each section upon the field. Just how well this arrangement will work out remains to be seen.

New Rules

Contrary to the old ball rules used last year, an interesting and very practical innovation has been introduced by the new Athletic Director. Only one strike will be allowed—swing or called. Two fouls also constitute an out, while but two balls are necessary for a free ticket to first. These rules add much speed and zest to the game; making a period of thirty minutes ample time in which to play a nine innings.

Football League

Probably the most attractive feature of the intramural program will be the football league, scheduled to start within a few weeks. The

Athletic Elections

All the classes will assemble on Friday, Oct. 12 to elect the president of the new Student Athletic Council which will be the advisory body for intramural sports. The president must be from Senior class and all nominations will be made by that class after which the rest of the students will register their votes.

The Athletic Council will be composed of a president, the student managers of each sport and three students from each class representing each of three courses. It will act in an advisory capacity to Father Jacobs and Mr. Liston for the intramural program.

Campus Clippings

R. M. C.

Greetings, Freshmen. You are now in college. If you don't believe it, why are you wearing that silly looking cap and tie?

But apart from that, the Greyhound takes this opportunity to officially welcome you to the Campus. The Sophomores will do the rest.

Here are a few general remarks that may be of benefit to you:

1. Make yourself at home. You may throw old papers, remains from your lunches, etc., into any convenient corner. When in a hurry, just spit on the floor.

2. Pay little or no attention to Freshman Rules or the Sophomores. They're only traditions which are easily broken. But then, so are broad, flat paddles.

3. Beware of a handsome chap who wears a gray suit and a searching look, and who signs himself J. W. F. He usually passes for a Senior. We tell you this because he will stop at nothing to get material for that column over on the right. He would bare your very love life with columnistic glee. Why he'd even attack the defenseless hot dogs of the lunch counter.

4. Don't let Frank Wright, a famed Senior, get you tied up in any deals. Last year he tried to sell Freshmen some stock in the swimming pool.

5. When you hear Jack Cochrane laugh, don't jump to conclusions; your first impression is apt to be wrong.

6. To you Freshmen who will try to write poetry, remember that Shakespeare had a difficult time in the beginning. It is reported that his first couplet ran this way:

1, 2, 3,

Woe is me!

And now that this column is under way let's get down to serious business:

A couple of students on the Library Staff, were working over in the faculty house basement one day, placing some old books and paintings on the basement shelves. Among the paintings lifted to the shelf was Dante's Inferno. They were raisin' hell so to speak. (Ed. note: Please!)

Wonder how it feels to say to your youngest offspring: "Now be a good boy while daddy goes to school"? Ask Joe Moran, the Special Senior.

Hear ye, hear ye, 'tis great tidings; after three years, I can at last read James Cianos' writing! (Ed. note: Cribbing again, eh?)

Evergreen Reflections

Samoa Stuff

Ho hum...hello again...a happy new year to you all... everything looks about the same, what?...as expected, the Freshmen look scared, the Sophs important and the Juniors expectant...the Seniors are trying their best to look serious, but as yet they haven't quite gotten over being Juniors. Would like especially to welcome the new lads...make yourselves at home, boys, we're just one big happy family (sez me!)...don't let the Sophs bulldoze you too much...after all they are only here to "show you around". Here's hoping that football will be back at Evergreen before you serve your sentence...for the present we'll have to be content with basketball...all indications point to a whale of a court team...you yearlings can help no end by backing the boys one hundred percent...let's see what manner of stuff you are made of...it's never too early for enthusiasm.

OVERHEARD DRAMA NUMBER ONE:—

First Sweet Young Thing:—"Who took you to the dance?"

Second S. Y. T.:—"Bill— — —"

First Ditto:—"Who brought you home?". (Subtle, what?)

'Twas Only A - - -

Big Ben did sing his song...arose feeling like a million smackers...sang two verses of Mother Machree while removing tiny shoots from countenance...breakfast very tasty... good recordings from a local...birds were tweeting in a nearby tree-top...ol' Sol, looking very fresh did much to raise spirits even more...re-sang two verses of Mother Machree... did blithely stroll toward United tracks...friend in straight eight did bid me ankle in and did so...spirits rose .7 percent during glorious ride...arrived at school to be offered ciggies by two dyed-in-the-wool chiselers...bloke returned two bits I thought was shot...bell did arrive, but Professor did not... class called off...did take a stroll around the lake...ten simoleons found lying serenely in the gutter...cup filled to overflowing...but...did awake with maternal parent gently pouring icecubes down the back...did stumble out of bed, through a breakfast, and out into another blue Monday. Whatta life!

PRACTICALLY ORIGINAL LINES WRITTEN JUST TO PROVE THAT WE HAVEN'T LOST THE KNACK.

With the murmuring brook, I'm in love,
My heart just thrills to clover.
I'm also very fond of Eggs, when they're turned over.

We notice on page 39 of the College catalogue, that "through" has been spelt "thru", a "u" being substituted for the "ough". So now if some lad walks up and says that he has a "cu" in his chest, or that he has just taken a "tu" exam, you'll know what he means. Can't say we sanction the practice ourselves, thu.

BITS OF BLAH:—

Modernizing an old line: "When your hair has turned to silver"—the government will confiscate it.

Judging from some of the local haircuts, one would say that the modern barber doesn't know when to stop once he starts to "cut up".

It might not be a bad idea for this institution to start teaching the Seniors a trade. At least we would know what kind of work we were out of next June.

Ben O'Hare had deserted these halls of loining for those of Fordham. We hope that Ben realizes his ambition to see Samoa. Remember?

A voice crying in the wilderness: Bernie Hoffman singing "I wish that I were twins".

Poetry a la Elmer X. Lambdin:
Breathes there a man with soul so dead
Who never to himself has said,
Hot cha cha, cha cha?

(Monday morning grudge in brief—)
Things that get on my nerves:—
1—People who say "nuts".
2—People who don't say "nuts".
3—People.

Welcome! - -

It is the privilege of The Greyhound in its first current issue to extend a sincere and hearty welcome to Father Joseph A. Canning, Loyola's new President. In doing so, however, we but echo the sentiments of the entire faculty and student body. We hope that Father Canning will find his sojourn here a pleasant one. We pledge him our cooperation and support and wish him nothing but success in his efforts to make Loyola, even more than before, Maryland's outstanding college.

However, our welcome, no matter how sincere, cannot but be tinged with regret at our loss of Father Wiesel. It was through his careful planning and administration that Loyola, as a separate institution, rose from obscurity to its present prominence. The students and alumni owe him a debt of lasting gratitude that can never be repaid. May his future efforts be crowned with even greater success.

We likewise take this opportunity to greet the other members of the faculty, especially the new ones, and our old friends among the student body. Particularly do we extend a cordial welcome to the Freshman Class and urge their interest and participation, not only in scholastic pursuits, but also in all the extra-curricular activities of Loyola. The various study clubs and academies, the debating societies, intramural sports, the Sodality, the school publication, and other such activities, offer them those opportunities for self-development and self-expression which constitute one of the greatest advantages of a college education. The paternal interest taken in the new men by the Sophs is merely by way of introducing them to the traditions of Loyola, chief among which is a spirit of sportsmanship and cooperation. We are looking to the Freshman Class to uphold these traditions.

On With The New - -

The dropping of intercollegiate football, has, of course, left a large, hollow space in the college athletic program as well as in the heart of every Loyola man. When all is said, the gridiron game does add zest and spirit to a college education. The fact remains, however, that due to lack of finances and man-power, a successful team at Evergreen this year was a moral impossibility.

Let us lose no time then, bemoaning the inevitable. The intra-mural program Father Jacobs is so enthusiastically directing should do much to compensate for the loss of football. It will in fact, put athletics on a larger basis than ever before in the school's history. It will give every student, instead of a few "supermen," a chance at active competition. It will create a spirit of healthy rivalry between the classes and a spirit of real sportsmanship throughout the school.

Such a program, especially at its inception, will require one-hundred percent cooperation from every individual if it is to succeed. Its success will open a bright future to athletics at Evergreen. The Senior Class seems to be leading the way. Let's see everyone fall in line!

MENDEL CLUB AIMS CONTACT WITH PROMINENT BIOLOGISTS

CLUB PAPER PROPOSED

The initial meeting of the Mendel Club revealed a strong eager undercurrent of enthusiasm for amplification of the society to the educational and social advantage of its members.

Suggestions from the veteran members of the Club were directed to the establishment of contact with prominent men in the city immediately engaged in some biological research of outstanding concern to students majoring in the biological sciences.

Union of Clubs

The proposal that a union of the biology clubs of the adjacent colleges might result in the interchange of valuable and highly stimulating ideas was warmly received. Mr. Cunningham eagerly accepted the appointment to establish relations between the biology clubs of Loyola and Notre Dame College.

The issuance of a club paper was hinted with Mr. Kammer assuming the obligation to investigate the cost of the publication of a four page leaflet.

Several changes in the Constitution of the Club were advanced, these amendments to be made public at the distribution of copies of the Constitution at the next meeting

The word 'sabotage' has come into its own with the initiation of the freshmen rules. Whenever a pup is up for trial and cannot be found guilty on any other count, the sophs convict him of sabotage.

Alumni Chatter

L. M.

Here it is October again, and another season for the Greyhound is at hand. Let's give the first space to last year's Grads and see what they're doing, and having done to them.

For instance, Dan Cupid has been taking target practice on Tom Skelton, Doran Buppert and Frank Dale, all of whom were married recently. Let's wish them plenty of luck and happiness.

Frank Stevens is studying at the Catholic University, and at the same time working at the Washington Transient Bureau.

Condolences

Will Carew, who entered St. Mary's Seminary in the latter part of September, has been at home these last few days because of the unexpected death of his brother, Jack. Many of us remember Jack as a student at Loyola High School, and we offer our sincerest sympathies to his family.

We hear from very good authority (his sister), that Wise is employed by the Banker's Trust Company in New York.

Banker

Pittsburgh holds the interest of Leo Risacher, who is employed by a banking firm in that city, and another member of last year's class who has entered the business word is Joe Hooper, who is employed in his father's office in the Equitable Building.

Those first mentioned in his column are just a few steps ahead of Tony Azzarello, for, if Dame Rumor is not kidding, he is about to take the Matrimonial Plunge.

Joe Stann is going to school in Chicago, where he is studying to be a C. P. A.

Flash

All those with tooth trouble please wait for a few years, because Jack Bossert is studying to be a cavity-filler-upper.

At the time of the last report, Harry Hartzell was touring the continent of Europe.

If the Crown Cork and Seal Company was looking for someone big enough to do the work, they certainly should be satisfied with having George Waidner in their employ.

Bernard Kuhl is at Ammendale, studying to be a Christian Brother.

"EX'S"

Before we devote space to our older alumni, it seems most appropriate to mention the activities of some of the "Ex's".

Aubert Duke, ex '36, during the course of the summer, joined the Jesuit Society at Wernersville, Pa.

Jerome Moran, ex '37, entered the Society of Maryknolls, who devote their lives to Missionary work in China.

Old Timers

Now, what about those who graduated before last year?

Eddie Storck, '32, was married on the thirteenth of June, at St. Ignatius' Church, and on the thirtieth of the same month, Bill Simms, '30 made the nuptial vows in Washington, D. C.

Dave Donovan, '33, is working at the Baltimore Transient Bureau, and is studying law at night. Ben Egan, '33 is employed in Washington.

Bob Arthur and Joe Bradley, ex '34 are studying for priesthood at Rome, while Stuart Palmer, also ex '34 is in Seattle, and it is said that he will be married there.

Ben O'Hare, ex '35 is living in New York and studying at Fordham.

Joseph Quinn, '16, editor of the Southwest Courier in Oklahoma, was elected President of the Catholic Press Association in June.

Incidentally: On Thursday, October 11, in the Library here at Evergreen, the Annual Election of the Alumni Association will be held at 8:15 P. M. At this meeting, which will combine luncheon, smoker and the election of officers, all those who are present will have the opportunity of meeting the new President, Father Canning.

All those who possibly can, are urged to come, for we are sure that it will be an enjoyable evening.

Do you want a blind date for October 8? Dance at Levering Hall. Cocktail Party to precede dance. The girl is Helen—, 5ft.-4, blonde hair, blue eyes, good dancer, good company. All expenses paid.

Wright or Wrong

INTRODUCING FR. JACOBS

As Paul Menton would say: "Its all in the viewpoint," so here goes. To my mind the coming of Father Jacobs as Athletic Director has been most timely. Hailing from Brooklyn Prep and the so-called "Big Time," Father Jacobs has fitted perfectly into the scheme of things here at Loyola. Coming at a time when there was a crying need for action rather than promises, Father Jacobs has taken over the reins with a masterful hand, and living up to advance information given this writer, has shown by action rather than words that he is behind the students one hundred percent and intends to do all in his power to make the Campus of Loyola a strong afternoon attraction to each and every student.

BASKETBALL COACH

"Those who can, do; while those who can't, teach. Such is the philosophy of Bruce Biggs. But this statement how ever true, does not in any sense apply to Bill Liston, our newly appointed basketball coach and Athletic Director. Truly a Loyola man with the interests of the College at heart, Liston deserves only the best.

WORTHY OF SUPPORT

Both Father Jacobs and Bill Liston are worthy of the wholehearted support of every student in the College. As far as I am able to discover, it has been a long time since Loyola has had two men so interested in the student body at large. To these men goes the credit of making it possible for the tid-dlywink player as well as the burly halfback to flash his form. To these men goes the distinction of being the first to ever sound the student body, to ascertain just what activities were desired and then to do all in their power to provide those activities.

"HOUSE OF LOCKED DOORS"

It has been hard to realize that the gymnasium is no longer a Varsity Temple upon which the student body might look with awe but seldom enter, and that to those entering, it is no longer a house of locked doors. But the fact that from day to day there is as increasing number of fellows upon the field, shows that we are gradually mastering this task. This increase in the number of fellows upon the athletic field is indeed a most heartening sight to Father Jacobs who is doing everything posible to keep the students from leaving the campus immediately after the day's classes. "Please," said Father Jacobs, "impress upon the students the fact that we are leaving nothing undone to provide a means of recreation for each and every one of them." Here is a quotation from a man who backs up his words by action; what do you say we all stay after school and give him a chance?

TAKE YOUR PICK

For you and you and you the following arrangements have been made. The gymnasium is to be open every day. Lockers are to be provided for each student. Soap and towels may be obtained for a nominal fee of five cents. And lastly each student will be able to take a hot shower. Footballs as well as indoor balls and bats are now available. The football equipment will be used for the class games. The football league along with the indoor league will open the season; and will be followed by the inter class basketball and volleyball leagues. Next the "duke-throwing" boys will have their ses-sion during the interclass boxing tournament. Interclass ice hockey, track, lacrosse and baseball will follow. Quo it and horseshoe boxes are to be placed along the outer edge of the athletic field to provide another means of diversion. Finally the gymnasium is to be equipped with flying rings, parallel bars, weights, mats and other equipment necessary to a gyn.

Liston Named Head Basketball Coach Under New Loyola Regime

Former Loyola College Star Appointed After A Brilliant Court Career

Bill Liston, newly ap-pointed basketball coach has taken over his duties with the ease of one long accustomed to a position of leadership. The wisdom of such a move by the faculty might be doubted by many; but to those who are acquainted with Bill in the slightest de-gree, such a move is a highly desirable one. To intrust the destiny of a basketball club to one who knows basketball is a sound bit of logic which for the past six years has been disregarded here at Loyola.

Discovered by Scheurholz

Since Liston is by nature a retiring chap it is our duty to unearth the proverbial light hidden under a bushel. Entering Loyola High in the fall of 1923, Liston knew nothing of the game of basketball. Spending two years in the comparative seclusion of the class room, Bill seemed destined to be just another student until suddenly dis-covered by Bill Scheurholz, the Blue and Gold coach.

Brilliant Record

From that time on this Loyola star has shone with brilliant incandescence across the basketball horizon. A varsity guard in his third year, Liston had the distinc-tion in his fourth year of leading the Varsity quint to the Catholic Championship and defeating City College in two straight games to claim the State title.

Entering Evergreen in 1927, Liston, playing Varsity guard for the entire four years, developed with the rapidity of a natural athlete. In his third year Liston led the Greyhounds through a most successful season.

Those following this crack outfit, still remember the brilliant performance of this Loyola guard. Playing against major opposition, through which the club swept with but one loss, Liston scored 243 points for an aver-age of 15 points per game to become high point scorer of the state.

Graduating in '31, Liston entered the business world, playing basketball at night in the various leagues about the city. In the years 1933 and 1934 Liston's ability as a coach came to the fore. In 1933 acting as playing coach, Bill led the St. John's club of the Catholic League to the Catholic League Champion-ship. This club also had the distinction of being consid-ered the best in the State. In 1934, acting as playing coach

SECTIONAL TEAMS CLASH IN CHAMPIONSHIP PLAY

The clash between the Senior B. S. and Junior Ph.B. clubs opened the inter class indoor league. Under the steadying influence of Will Ferrarini, pitching manager, the Junior Ph.B. outfit as-sumed an early lead to win 4 to 1.

The second league clash saw the Senior Ph.B's. oppos-ing the Soph Ph.B's. Timely hitting combined with errors by the opposition enabled the Sophs to gain a 6 to 2 decision.

The Senior A.B. and Soph A.B. outfits furnished the ac-tion for the third league game. Badly in need of prac-tice, the Seniors went down to an 11 to 3 defeat.

Standing of Clubs:

Club	Won	Lost
Junior B.S.	1	0
Soph Ph.B.	1	0
Soph A.B.	1	0
Senior PhB	0	1
Senior B.S.	0	1
Senior A.B.	0	1
Junior A.B.	0	0
Frosh A.B.	0	0

INTERCLASS INDOOR LEAGUE OPENS INTRAMURAL PROGRAM

NEW RULES INTRODUCED

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 5) league will be a four club affair, with a representative team from each of the four classes. Each team will play the other three clubs once, thus making a three game schedule for each of the four teams. The season will culmin-ate with the annual Soph Frosh clash. Since the aboli-tion of varsity football leaves a sprinkling of varsity men eligible for play among the various classes, the caliber of these games should be very high.

Winter Program

The winter will see inter-class basketball and boxing as the major attraction in the new system. Definite plans for these sports have as yet not been formulated, but there will be little doubt as to their attractiveness. Awards will be made to the winners of the various leagues thus add-ing an incentive to the players.

of the Fairy Gold Club, Bill led them to the Baltimore League Championship.

His appointment as basket-ball coach here at Evergreen is without a doubt a great break for one who is well de-serving of such an opportuni-ty, and a great break for a College which deserves better than a succession of lean years.

Comerford Goes To Canisius As Assistant To Hiker Joy

Former Greyhound Mentor Accepts Desirable Post During Summer

The departure of W. A. Comerford, Director of Ath-letics at Loyola College, came as a surprise to the majority of the student body.

Better Opportunity

Leaving Loyola last year with the understanding that he was to return as Director of In tram u ral Athletics, Comerford's opportuni-ty came in the form of an offer as assistant football coach of the Griffins of Can-isius College, Buffalo. Immed-iatly accepting this offer, Comerford resigned his post here at Loyola and made ready to take up his new duties.

Appointment Timely

This appointment of the former Loyola mentor was in-deed a timely one for the Grif-fins. Schooled under the same system as Hiker Joy, whom he is to assist, Comerford was well qualified to bear the brunt of the coaching burden, necessitated by the injury of Joy due to an automobile acci-dent, which occurred at the beginning of the season.

Comerford Optimistic

Comerford, although faced with a difficult problem, is as usual very optimistic. Well qualified to handle the Grif-fins after seven years as Ath-letic Director here at Loyola, he steps calmly into a breach which, would give pause to a lesser man. And, of course, the situation is not without another and brighter side. Accident and incident, like the breaks of any game, have made great coaches before; why not in the case of the up-a-n-d-coming Comerford? Here's hoping that the Griffins, under the more than capable leadership of Walter Comerford, romp to many a victory on the striped turf before the 1934 football sea-son rolls into the discard.

A Bit O' News From G. U.

We hear with pleasure from Georgetown U. that the new Assistant Director of Ath-letics is an old Loyola friend —Father Edmund P. Cerrute, S.J. To Father Cerrute goes the honor of being the first to lay the foundation for intra-mural sports at Loyola.

Here is a saying that the fellows who are always going to the Dean's office can use. It is 'Ting Hao', a Chinese saying which means, "a thousand yesses".

NEW MODERATORS HEAD LIST OF GREYHOUND STAFF CHANGES

WRIGHT NEW SPORTS HEAD

The Greyhound came in for a full share of the New Deal that arrived at Loyola this fall. Both business and literary advisors were lost to the paper due to faculty changes, while the Sports Editor resigned from the staff and the advertising manager, circulation manager and an associate editor failed to return to school.

Mr. Vincent P. McCorry, S.J. has been appointed business advisor to replace Father Rohan, while Mr. Joseph C. Kelley, S.J. will take over the duties of Mr. Winters as literary advisor.

Staff Vacancies

Jimmy Shea, sports editor, whose snappy column, "Shavings" was the most popular feature of the 'Hound, has turned his duties over to Frank Wright, Senior Sports Staff member. Murray Deming, advertising manager, is learning the hotel business in the Middle West and William White, circulation manager, has also joined the business world to learn the gasoline industry from the "bottom up." Judge Mehling, associate editor, has transferred his business address to Hopkins.

As the Senior members of the staff will sing their swan song to college journalism with the Christmas issue, applications for new members are welcomed. All candidates should hand their names to the editor in writing, stating any previous experience and whether they prefer to enter the news, sports or circulation departments.

Barbara, California for the more exacting), and Callahan from Douglas, Nebraska. Too bad Loyola doesn't have a polo team. And still from the other side of the Mississippi comes Joe Kelly whose knowledge of dude ranching at Sioux Falls, South Dakota, will be very valuable to the College elite.

Sophs Prove Sociable

The present Sophomores proved to be very sociable. Their first thoughts went right out to the Freshies. College environment is a great thing, but it must be met half way. So the Sophs went to all the trouble and expense of obtaining some colorful caps and ties for the new men. It will make them look collegiate and help keep the cold out of their heads. Anyone around the campus will admit the Freshmen present a colorful spectacle of American youth. Being gentlemen and scholars, they will probably compensate the Sophomore Class for all that has been done for them.

A "reception committee" of the second year men has already been appointed. The following were chosen because of their amiable personalities, gentleness of conduct and interest in seeing America march ahead.

hot time at Sparrows Point.

Benny Smith is now eligible to be the subject of travelling salesman jokes after an attempt at selling ladies hosiery. Stallo proved that it isn't possible to fool the public some of the time when he secured a job as assistant golf instructor at a local club. Botta will be a handy man at parties this year as he knows all the best recipes, having worked as barman at a club in Allentown.

Kane knew the headlines before they were printed. Why? Because he carried on his usual work on the News. And Cunningham after working a season at the local ball park, calls all the players on the Orioles by their first names. He was also employed at the American Sugar Refinery.

Debinski and Lambdin teamed up and went on a fun-seeking hitch-hiking trip. W. Flynn spent his time learning hill-billy songs in West Virginia, while Kammer saw America first on a Ford tour to California. Fusting doesn't talk through his nose, and Shea doesn't wear checked suits, so you'd never suspect that one spent some time in New England and the other worked at various race tracks.

Farley, MacFadden and D'Ambrogi were before the public all summer as drug store clerks. Polek hacked things up in a butcher shop, and Mullen pulled strings for a living by giving fiddle lessons.

Lewis was unable to bear separation from school for the whole summer and so worked in a solicitor's capacity for the registrar's office.

Ed Lubinski went in for politics in a big way and followed a lawn mower around the city parks during the warm months. Just another way of making "hay" while the sun shines.

The remaining seniors, unless they had affairs of the heart, were faced with the difficult problem of what to do and how best to do it. Our guess is they did their sleeping in the day and brought in the milk in the morning.
